OAHU POLOISTS GETTING TO FORM

First Team Perfecting Combination Work by Playing Together — Tournament Prospect.

The Oahu polo team is rapidly developing into the sort of smooth-working machine that keeps the ball moving in the right direction, and that gets it between the sticks three times out of five when there is any chance at all to score. During the early part of the season, when the local players were split up into color teams, the men who will wear the blue of Oahu in the coming interisland championships got plenty of individual practice, but they were sadly lacking in combination work, due to the fact that they were continually playing behind or in front of new men. For the last few weeks, however, the first team has been playing together, and right up to the time of the tournament the men will be given every chance to polish up their team work, against the strongest second four that can be brought together.

The personnel of the Oahu team has been known for some time. Sam Baldwin will play No. 1, Harold Castle 2, Walter Dillingham 3 and Arthur Rice back. This is the strongest combination that the local club can make, and there is really no question about any of the places. Until Arthur Rice came over from Kauai to live, and became one of the Oahu regulars, there was considerable uncertainty about the No. 4 position, but Rice's appearance at the arrival settled it. The men are going well together now, and seem to know each other's style of play to a nicety. They have confidence in each other and in the team as a whole, and this shows strongly in their play.

Last Saturday the first team defeated the Reds by 4-3 to nothing. Dr. Baldwin, Walter McFarlane, Harold Dillingham, R. W. Shingle and Lieutenant Andrews were all in the saddle for the Reds at one time or another, and put up a brand of polo not to be taken lightly. Wednesday afternoon there will be another practice game, and Saturday a regular match will be played.

This year's tournament promises to be the classic ever held here. Maui is sending over an exceptionally strong team, and the Cavalry players are working their heads off to perfectly round off their game. All three teams will be well mounted, and there will be little to choose between horseflesh, although Oahu may have a slight edge on speed.

BEAR STATE ASKS LEGALIZED RACING

With the recent establishment of the Associated Horse Breeders of California a move of importance was accomplished looking to the rehabilitation of racing on the coast. The aims of the association will be legislation calculated to promote the breeding of thoroughbred horses. The breeding can best be encouraged and fostered by racing, and this naturally goes to the objects of the new association.

It has been unanimously decided by the horse breeders and it omitted directly to the election of the state as an amendment to the existing law.

The proposed new law is in substance that it is the desire of the racing and breeding associations of California to prohibit bookmaking upon horse racing and to prevent the conducting and maintaining of pools. There is provision for the appointment of a state racing commission, to consist of five persons, to be appointed by the governor within twenty days after the law shall be in force, all of whom shall have been breeders and raisers of horses in this state for five years preceding their appointment, none of whom shall be an officer in any association or corporation or racetrack engaged in giving race meets. The race commissioners shall hold office for four years and control the racing situation.

Any association formed for the purpose of breeding and racing horses shall have the right, subject to the provisions of the law, to hold one or more meetings every year, not to exceed 100 days.

Wagers on horse races are permitted by the pari-mutuel and auction pool systems only. A section is provided for the punishment of every person who engages in pool selling or bookmaking with or without writing, at any time or place. This was included to eliminate the oral system of wagering. Punishment is set forth clearly for any person who violates the sections in the proposed new law. The racing commission has the right to appoint a secretary who shall be paid a salary not exceeding $1800 a year. The salary is to be paid by the commission, the amounts to be apportioned by the racing commis-

WHIFFS FROM THE OLD SPORT PIPE

BY Redington.

ON JULY 4 TWO WORLD'S CHAMPIONSHIPS OF THE RING ARE TO BE DECIDED. That is, one event is a near-championship and the other is a joke, but the fact remains that titles are at stake, and that both fights are of considerable importance in sporting circles. The Johnson-Flynn mill, at Las Vegas, is, of course, the joke, while the meeting between Al Volgaist and the Mexican scrapper Joe Rivers is not creating the interest that other lightweight championships have stirred up.

The yachting crowd, recently arrived on the transpacific racers, bring the latest first-hand news from the scene of the Volgaist-Rivers affair, where they heard a lot of comment on the chances of each. It will be somewhat of a surprise to Honolulu fans, who haven't heard much talk about Volgaist since he returned to the ring, to learn that Los Angeles is all Rivers, and that the dope there is to the effect that Ad is all in from the effects of his operation and that the Mexican will win in a walk.

R. J. McElroy of the Hawaii's crew says that it will be a big surprise to Los Angeles if Volgaist even lasts through the fight, much less wins it. "Those who follow the fight game closely say that Volgaist has gone back so far that he won't have a real chance with Rivers," said McElroy. "Why I heard of bets of 2 to 1 made just before we left, with Volgaist being the favorite. They think a whole lot of the Mexican, and can't figure Volgaist at all."

The champion's first try-out, against Willie Ritchie, in San Francisco didn't tend to inspire confidence in his ability to defend the title, and it would not be surprising if that much-talked-of lightweight crown had to be rebeked to fit another head.

AS TO THE JOHNSON-FLYNN fight, if it's straight there can be only one ending to it, and that ending will come at any time. The Big Smoke seems fit to cut loose. If the fight is fixed, all sorts of fireworks are apt to happen, with the Pueblo arena the ultimate winner, but the block to this supposition is Johnson's inordinate vanity. The pomps and vanities that go with a championship mean more to Lil' Arthur than they did to any heavy-weight who has been cock of the walk for many years past. The black man simply eats up the flattery and adulation that comes to him now, not only from his own people, but from certain class of whites, and it would take a pot of money to make him lie down to a big stew like Flynn.

THE SURPRISING PART OF THE whole affair is how wise a sporting man as Jack Curley let himself in for an affair that looks like a certain bloomer. Curley has already spent a pot of money on the fight, and it's a pretty safe guess that if Johnson does not see the color of that $50,000 he won't enter the ring, so if the attendance falls down, Curley will have to throw good money after bad or call off the fight at the last moment. It is this situation that has given rise to so many cries of fake, with betting and the motion pictures offering themselves as a sure out should Flynn manage to win, especially after about ten rounds.

Curley is said to have spent a goodly sum on the portable arena, which was built in Kansas City and shipped to Las Vegas in sections, and which is designed to seat 17,500 persons.

SPEAKERS TO DISCERN CIVIC DUTY IN POLITICS

"What stand should I take in the nation's crisis?" This question will be thrashed out thoroughly tomorrow evening at the Central Union church-parish house, where several speakers will give their reasons for severally supporting the national parties and will concern the "high plane of civic duty as it appears to different minds."

David L. Withington will speak on "Why My Influence Must Support the Cause Embodied in the Person of the Nation's President."

Wade Warren Thayer will discuss "The Appeal to Conscience by Democracy," and Dr. E. V. Wilcox will support the Progressives.

Miss Frances Blascoer will represent the Socialists and their ideals.

Dry Land Looks Good

JUDGE HENRY E. COOPER
President Hawaii Yacht Club

YACHTSMEN REST AFTER STRENUOUS TRIP. SCHOONER SEAFARER MUCH-TRAVELED SHIP

Life on the ocean wave is all right in its way, but after two strenuous weeks on the briny, dry land looks pretty good, and feels pretty good, to the transpacific racers.

As soon as the belated Nattose arrives, a regular round of gaieties will commence. There will probably be a dance at the Moana hotel for the yachtsmen and their friends, and an auto trip around the island for the visitors.

Judge Henry E. Cooper, president of the Hawaii Yacht Club, plans to give a luncheon at his Pearl Harbor place, which promises to be one of the finest entertainments in its line ever given. It will be brand new to most of the visitors, and as such should prove a great attraction.

The Seafarer, the largest of the four yachts that took part in the transpacific race, although only a little more than two years old, has done more cruising, and covered more leagues of ocean than a usually registered pleasure craft from the time her keel is laid until she is put in the junk pile. Already she has been once round the world, and by the time she has returned to the Coast from Honolulu, the trim black schooner will have added another 6000 miles to her total.

The Seafarer, while built on semi-racing lines, is intended primarily for cruising, and her owner Captain Norris, and Mrs. Norris have made a floating home of her for some time. Mrs. Norris is as seasoned a sailor as her husband, and thoroughly enjoyed the run down.

A Rude Shock.
It was a rude shock to Captain Norris to find the Lurline securely berthed, and her crew already carrying themselves like old residents, and talking glibly of the Country Club, the Rathskeller, and Waikiki beach, as though they had lived here all their lives. Its hard luck for a scratch man to lose out, but its rubbing it in to find that the other fellow has been over the finish line long enough to pick up a dozen words of the language, and visit all the places of interest in the vicinity of the city.

But Captain Norris is too old a hand at the yachting game to take defeat very seriously, and his first act ashore was to call on the Lurline, and congratulate Captain Harris.

"We had a splendid cruise all the way," said Captain Norris. "It was sailing in summer seas from the time we left to the time we arrived, and while I would have liked to win, of course, losing can't rob the trip of its enjoyment. We sailed farther than any of the other yachts. Someone told me that it would be best to go South before striking across, and I took the advice. We got good weather, and avoided the storm that the others seem to have got into at this end, but we sailed nearly 400 miles farther than the Lurline."

On the Seafarer are Mrs. Norris and Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Follenbush, of San Francisco. The yacht is sailed by a professional crew, but the owner is his own navigator and sailing master. The Seafarer attracted a lot of attention along the waterfront on account of her splendid lines. She was built in Boston three years ago by Lawley, after a Crowninshield design, and was brought to the Pacific coast via Suez canal and the Philippines, reaching San Francisco last October.

tain Harris was not in command of her then, being skipper of the Lady Maud.

Hawaii Carried The Hopes Of The South Coast Club As Well

By ARCH BROWN.
(Los Angeles Correspondent on Yacht Hawaii.)

2800 miles to compete and make the race possible, was considered worthy of appreciation and gratitude.

Although the Hawaii was first over the starting line, she was unable to hold her own in the light wind that was blowing. Every inch of canvas that could possibly be crowded on the boat was raised, but nevertheless the Lurline and Seafarer passed her during the first mile. The race for first place was lost during the first four days, when the prevailing winds barely gave the boat teerage way.

There could not have been a better skipper to pilot this boat than Captain Stroud. From the start until the boat passed Diamond Head he was on the job, taking observations and supervising the sailing of the craft. Night after night he would remain on deck, taking occasional bits of sleep in the cockpit, simply because he knew that the hearts of the people of Honolulu and Los Angeles as well as his own were wrapped up in his boat.

Officers Efficient.
Great credit must be given 1st officer Center and 2nd Officer Fredericks for their untiring efforts in directing the crews of their watches. During the entire trip the crew and officers worked in harmony, and this accounts to a great extent for the fine finish of the Hawaii made, using it all in the crew seemed to be like one big family. There was not a man aboard who found it necessary to "heave too" during calm or stiff weather and every man was on the job when it came time for his watch.

After the first day there was not a vessel sighted until the channel was reached. One of the pastimes during calm periods was "fishing" for geese. Buster Stacker and 2d Officer Fredericks were successful in landing several of the large birds by the use of a sharp brass triangle and piece of fat pork.

During the 14 days of hard sailing there was one man aboard who succeeded in keeping the crew in good spirits via the stomach route. This was the steward, Joe Dareo. O look at any member of the crew will vouch that he faithfully fulfilled his duties.

Water Runs Low.

It seemed that all of the hardships of the trip were bunched together during the past few days of the race. Friday morning it was found that there remained but 50 gallons of water in the tanks. Upon close investigation by Captain Stroud, a leak in the 500 gallon tank was located. This necessitated the usage of fresh water for drinking and cooking purposes only. Sunday morning it seemed as though the precious liquid would last only a few hours more, but Dame Nature favored the boat by giving her a good supply of wind and it was a question of a few hours before the boat reached the dock.

Sunday night was the worst experienced during the entire trip. A heavy sea and rain squalls assisted in making it a very disagreeable night. About 9:30 p. m. the first mishap took place in the breaking of the main gaff. This spar had to be taken off entirely and the mainsail used as a leg o' mutton. After this had been repaired the square tops sheets parted but these were soon reset and very little time lost. The time for running from South Maui to Molokai light seemed to be a little better than steamer time. With squares' sea and running before a heavy sea, the yacht simply took the wind in her teeth and flew.

In a race of this length the winning was simply a matter of luck, which is readily shown by the victory of the Hawaii over the Seafarer. These boats are of the same design but owing to her length and sail area the Seafarer is faster, especially in light weather. However, with a few feet added on the masts of the Hawaii and her sail area increased, it would be a pr sight to see these two boats in a race of lesser length.

Although disappointed by not winning the race, Captain Stroud is very well pleased at the showing made by his boat after taking into consideration the handicap of being-behind for nearly four days.

List of the Log.
The last entry in the log was not made until the Hawaii was safely in to the dock. Here is the story of the strenuous ending to the voyage:

Stiff breeze, moderate sea, cloudy sky. Wind drops light during early morning. Many rain squalls. 6 a. m.

sky clears. Choppy sea. Wind freshens and hauls to Eastward. Wind light during afternoon with many squalls. Land sighted at 6:40 p. m. Hawaii Island about 45 miles off port bow. At 9:30 p. m. Main Gaff broke but left sail up. Strong wind very stiff squalls. 10:15 p. m. Nakaie light sighted. West Maui about 15 miles off port beam. At 11:30 p. m. lowered mainsail and main club topsail and shipped broken gaff and reset mainsail as leg o' mutton sail. Jibbed ship and changed course to W by N.

July 1.
At 12:30 a. m. Molokai light sighted. Jibbed ship at 1:45 to clear end of Molokai. Square topsail sheets carried away. Reset same in 15 minutes. Leper settlement ahead at 3:50 a. m. Sailing under upper and lower squaresail and minnails with gaff off and peak pulled down when still rain squalls strikes us. Seas very heavy. At 5 a. m. Leper settlement aft. 6 a. m. Port watch prepares for making port. All hand on deck at 7 a. m. and ship dressed down. Made fast time from Molokai to Kaho Head. Cross finish line at Diamond Head at 2:03 a. m.

SAWED OFF SHORT

Playing for the Tom Morris birth-day trophy, which was contested for by all the clubs of the Western Golf Association June 15, the Los Angeles Country Club team was 40 down on par; the Hutchinson, Kan., Golf Club 92 down, and the Denver Country Club 81 down. The Oahu Country Club was 113 down in the event.

This coming Sunday is election day for the U. C. A. All members are requested to be present to elect new officers for the coming term.

In a game of baseball played at Anala Park Sunday afternoon, the U. C. A. defeated a picked team composed mostly of Ash Lan schoolboys by a score of 20 to 1. The losing team made its only run in the fourth inning through the kindness of Ah Poi, who threw the ball wild from center to the home plate. Chang Sing of the winning team had no pity on the ball, knocking out a three-base hit and two doubles.

MELBOURNE, Aus. June 21.—Jack Lester, formerly of Cle-Ellum, Wash., was given a decision over Pat Doran of Victoria in an eleven-round fight here today. Lester received the decision over Bill Lang for the heavyweight championship over Bill Lang for the heavyweight championship of Australia in a twenty-round contest at Sydney, N. S. W., September 8, 1911. Doran recently came into prominence among the British Columbia heavyweights.

That the indictment of Jack Johnson and his wife, charged with smuggling into this country a diamond necklace, will not interfere with his fight in Las Vegas is the news from Chicago. The authorities say that Johnson will be allowed to give a $5000 bond at Las Vegas, and after the fourth will be required to return to Chicago to plead to the indictment.

Cyclone Johnny Thompson, who hasn't boxed in San Francisco for four years, when he was matched with Carlyle as a lightweight, arrived there recently from Illinois. Johnny has been signed up to box twenty rounds in Sacramento against Frank Mantell on the evening of July 3 in the ball park. The match has been made at catchweights, although the two boys are practically middleweights.

The Standards won a ball game from the Wela-ka-Hao Sunday morning by a score of 14 to 4. These are not the same Wela-ka-Hao that play tennis.

PLAY OFF BALL TIE.

The tie between the Stars and J. A. C. for first place in the Senior League, for the first half of the series, is to be decided a week from next Sunday. It is impracticable to play the game this week, due to the fact that the players who go to Maui and Hilo for the Fourth will hardly have time to get back in time. The game is the most important to date, and neither team wants to take the chance of having players out of condition.

BARNEY BATS THE BEAUTIFUL BINGLES

With the first half of the schedule played out, Barney Joy finds himself in the proud position of leading batsman of the Oahu Senior League. And Barney has some reason to be proud, for even against fingers of less than major league caliber, 33 hits out of 39 times up, a clean percentage of .848, is certainly going some. Barney's forte seems to be useful singles, for he does not figure largely in the extra base record, having just one double, one three-bagger and one homer to his credit. He has stolen two bases, laid down one sacrifice, accepted three bases and retired by the S. O. route only twice.

Alex Deha of the Hawaiis is second man with 32. For a while it looked like a neck and neck finish with Barney, but the big fellow walked away in the last two games. Altogether there are nine players who hit .300 or better. La Mada leads in the home run column with two. This outlier is certainly some dangerous-looking pitcher when there's a chance to clean up.

In team-battling the Stars have a slight lead over their running mates at the top of the table, J. A. C. The 'Ashulis are at the bottom, with hardly enough hits to take the tarnish off their bats.

The Portuguese are way ahead in cleanup fielding, but their sticking is too weak to win games. Following are the figures, as compiled by Scorekeeper. It is rumored that Bill draws down less than $75 a week for making his appearances in the score book, and if this is so it's a shame, for he's certainly a willing mark.
